Washington, November II.—The first intimation the Brazilian Minister here has received of the reported accession of some of the provinces in Brazil was in the form of an unofficial dispatch to-day to the effect that it was reported in Rio that the State of Rio Grande do Sul had renounced all allegiance to the Government and had seeded. As this dispatch came from a reliable source the Minister believes, in the the absence of any contradictory statement from his Government, that the province has revolted. The Minister stated to-night that if the province had seeded there was not the least chance of the revolt extending to other States of the republic; that the Government of Brazil was as stable as this Government, and that there need be no fear of a general revolution. The disaffection in the province of Rio Grande do Sul, he said, was probably due to the members of the dissolved Congress representing that part of the country, who endeavored to cause dissonsion among the people because of the dissolution of Congress. The financial condition of the republic, the Minister said, was firm, and there was really nothing to cause a revolution.

WOULD BE A MILE SHORTER.

A scheme has lately been set about which, if successful, will result in lessening the distance from Richmond to Dutch Gap by a mile, besides greatly facilitating the entrance to the canal.

It is proposed to start at a point about a mile below the old Osberne Ferry in Chesterfield and dig a straight channel to the Gap. At present this distance is two miles by water, but the cut would only be one half that length. This would give a straight entrance to the Dutch Gap canal instead of the reversed curse now described by all outward-bound vessels.

The plan suggested is for the State to appropriate to this work some of the convicts now kept idle in the penitentiary, end for the city to pa the damages which will be caused by cutting through the land. These will be very alight, as the work will, in large part, be through a march.

The persons having the matter in hand will do nothing until the city pledges the slight co-operation outlined. If this is done they claim that there will be no trouble in having the Legislature agree to the State part.

Except in the case of the Ludwig notes, most of the paper manipulated by Dashall was put up as collateral to secure his own notes, and was in the regular way of negotiating loans for outside parties.

These negotiations throw a good deal of business into the hands of bankers and others who have money to lend, and when they are regular there is no danger of loss. The real estate men keep pretty well posted as to the titles of property and the amount of incumbrance it any upon it, and the banks know this. As an original proposition the banks have neither the time nor inclination to go into these questions and consequently many a loan is negotiated through a real estate agent that it could not be easy to obtain otherwise.

TWO WEDDINGS IN MANCHESTER. Mr. Vaden and Miss Sublott ; Mr. West and

One of the largest audiences that ever attended a wedding in Manchester assembled at Meade-Memorial church at 6 o'clock last evening to witness the marriage of Miss Lucy Nelson Sublett to Mr. Bernard Pare Vaden.

Long before the hour fixed for the ceremony the edifice was crowded to its utmost capacity and standing room could not be obtained either in the aisles or the vestibule. The view from the exterior was obstructed by persons standing in the windows and hundreds were turned away. Promptly at 6 o'clock Lohengrin's Wedding March pealed forth under the touch of Miss Mirian Cook, which informed the immense assemblage that the bridal party had arrived.

The ushers were Messrs, Earnest Weisiger (best man), Robert E. Vaden, Walter Grinnan, Walter Hatcher, Claiborne Watkins, Thomas Smith, Tom. E. Owen, and William R. Ball.

The bridal party marched slowly up the right aisle and formed a horseshoe figure around the altar and the bride and groom advanced to the altar, the attendants completing an angle.

J. J. Clopton conducted the ceremony in accordance with the service of the Episcopal church. Judge Ingram, brother-inlaw of the bride, gave her away. After the ceremony the party left the church in reverse order, going down the left aisle, THE TOUR-PERSONAL.

THE TOUR—TERSONAL.

Immediately after the marriage the bride and groom were driven to the depot, where they took the train for New York. During their abfence they will visit a number of Northern cities.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a white China silk trimmed in chiffon, with bonnet, gloves, and slippers to match. In her hand she carried a prayer-book. She is a daughter of the late James M. Sublett and is a young lady of rare personal charms, quite pretty, and her winning manners and lovable disposition have won for her the warmest admiration of a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Vaden is one of the most popular and highly esteemed young gentlemen of Manchester, and is a member of the hardware firm of Vaden & Co., of this city. He is a great favorite in social and business circles.

The channel was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and other flowers, and in tront of the altar hung a floral design in the shape of a horseshoe in which the letters S. V. appeared, and the back of the chancel was a stand of flowers among which sat three handsome candelabra which beautifully illuminated the chancel.

Mr. Vaden and his fair young wife were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents.

The West-End Methodist church was the scene of a very pretty marriage yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, when Mr. O. B. West and Mrs. E. E. Milby were united in marriage, Rev. T. P. Wise officiating.

The ushers were Messrs. W. D. Coleman and J. R. Greene. Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom were driven to the depot and boarded the train for Prince Edward county.

The bride was dressed in a steel-gray suit, with hat and gloves to correspond.

The adjourned meeting of the quarterly Conference of the West-End Methodist church was held at the residence of Mr. A. H. Thomas, on Hull street. Tuesday night, and the regular routine business of that body was transacted. A report which was submitted showed that the church had raised more than $500 during the year, which is very good for a church with such a small membership. After the business of the meeting Mr. Thomas tendered an oyster supper to the members, which was heartly enjoyed.

Government realroading, he believed, would be a gigantic failure. In the first place, the Government would have to buy the railroads, and that would east ten thousand million dollars. That would be an impossibility, practically, because there was in circulation only fitteen hundred million dollars.

H. C. Brown, of Georgia, endorsed every thing that Mr. Heard had said. Georgia, he said, had tried State ownership of railways; Georgia owned the Western and Atlantic railway. Under State control the rates were high; the service was bad, and the deficits were extraordinary. The State found that it had been too expensive to run its own railway, and the line was leased to private individuals. Under private control the read charged cheaper rates, gave better service, paid a rental of 83,000 a month, and made money for the lessees.

AMUSEMENTS TO-NIGHT.

There is the liveliest kind of a demand for our dentlemen's Furnishings. They have been moving so quickly that it is pretty hard to heed movement still more rapid. We are not in the habit of challenging comparisons unless we have the material to do it with, and we have a most of furnishings that not only challenges comparisons but defies them. Rich designs at poor prices is rather a curious combination, but we've made it to perfection. Come and see if we haven't

So far there is nothing new to tell regarding the Loving or any other of the notes. One thing, however, seems to be certain, and that is that the courts will have several tangled webs to unravel. Even after some of the paper that may be proved to be spurious shall have been thrown out nice questions of priority of execution of admittedly genuine notes will arise.

Will arise.

The developments in all the Dashiell transactions show that some of his friends had the utmost confidence in him. They not only trusted him with several notes, but with renewal deeds of trust, feeling sure that he would not only take up and destroy the old notes, but see that the first deeds were released. In one instance at least it appears that he did not fulfil either of these trusts. There were two deeds and two sets of notes for the same amounts existing. There is no evidence that the first deed has been released, and the law may have to decide which set of notes belong to the original and which to the renewal deed. Two separate banking institutions hold sets of notes which are similar which were used by Dashiell as collateral, and which are secured by deeds of trust on the same property. Nevertheless, one set is said to represent all the money the drawer of the notes borrowed on the property.

"Can you hear an ordinary conversational tone?" asked the Judge.

"Hey?" remarked Doe, placing his hand behind his ear.

"I say, can you hear an ordinary conversational tone of voice?" asked the Judge, pitching his voice a little higher.

"Well, it bothers me some," said Doe.

"Well, said Judge Davis, in alow tone of voice, "I guess we will have to excuse you if you can't hear well."

Low as the tone was Doe heard it and he started away with a pleased smile twink-ling about his face.

Temporary receivers have been appointed at Atlanta by United States Judge W. I. Newman for the Kensangton Land Company on the petition of G. C. Weible & Co., of Ohio. This company appoints of a hotel and 1,600 acres of land. This is already mortgaged. W. T. Turnbull and C. T. Busk are made receivers. The case will be argued November 14th.

The Southern Cotton Harvestor Company, whose cotton-picker had a satisfactory trial on the Piedmont Exposition-Grounds, in Atlanta, a few days ago, is so condident of the practical success of its machine that it has made a contract for the building of cotton-pickers and expects to be able before the next crop is ready for picking to supply the demand of planters for the machines.

A dispatch from Nevers, France, gives the details of a fatal accident that occurred yesterday in a colliery near that city. While a party of eight miners were descending into the pit the rope by means of which the cage was raised and lowered broke, and the cage and all its occupants were dashed to the bottom of the pit. Three of the unfortunate men were instantly killed and the five others were so badly injured that little hope is entertained of their recovery.
